Academic Attire

At today's commencement, faculty and graduates will be attired in academic regalia gowns, hoods, and mortarboards.

The history of this distinctive costuming goes back to the medieval universities of Europe where gowns were worn every day, providing both identification of the academic discipline and added warmth in poorly heated buildings.

The formal attire for campuses in the United States was established in 1895 with the adoption of the Academic Costume Code. It enables one to identify the wearer's degree and course of study and, in many cases, the college or university that awarded the degree.

Gowns for recipients of bachelor's and master's degrees are made of black cotton without trimming. Doctoral gowns are faced down the front and back in velvet and have three bars of the same material across the sleeves. The bachelor's gown has open sleeves; the master's sleeves are longer and closed with arm slits at the elbow; and the doctoral bell-shaped sleeves extend to the wrist.

Hoods differ in length and are incrementally longer for each higher degree. The colored edging indicates the academic discipline and the lining signifies the official color or colors of the institution.

The black mortarboard with tassel is worn with each type of gown. Bachelor's and master's degree holders wear a black tassel and those who have earned a doctorate wear a gold tassel. In recent years, there has been a growing tendency to wear a colored tassel symbolizing, like the hood, the subject area in which the wearer has taken a degree.

Today, as in most academic processions, some people wear costumes that do not conform to standard patterns. This is especially true of people who hold degrees from foreign universities where colorful attire often is prescribed.

The Mace

The College Mace serves as a symbol of authority, just as it did in the Middle Ages when a mace bearer accompanied an official taking office or opening court. From the 16th century in England, and since colonial days in the United States, it has become a symbol of office used in ceremonies and is carried by the procession leader or macebearer. The Springfield College Mace was first used at the inauguration of Dr. Randolph W. Bromery, 11th president of Springfield College, on October 30, 1993, and was carried by Professor Frank Wolcott '52, grand marshal. It is traditionally carried at commencement in the spring and the convocation in the fall.

The Grand Marshal

Traditionally, the Grand Marshal carries the Mace, which bears the College seal. It is the responsibility of the Grand Marshal to lead the Academic Procession and serve as the representative of the faculty, which attests that students are, or will be, qualified to receive a Springfield College degree or certificate. Once the President announces that the degree has been conferred, the Grand Marshal raises and lowers the College Mace as a symbol that the Board of Trustees approves the conferral of these degrees.

Commencement Honors and Awards

Students receiving special College-awarded or institutional honors at commencement wear the following honor cords to signify their accomplishments:

Double gold honor cords—Students graduating summa cum laude—Undergraduate students achieving a cumulative grade point average of 3.900 to 4.000

Mary-Beth A. Cooper

Springfield College President

Mary-Beth A. Cooper, PhD, DM, became the 13th President of Springfield College in August 2013, bringing to the College her experience from a long and distinguished career in higher education administration and community service.

With her leadership, the Springfield College community has experienced a unified rededication to its Humanics philosophy and mission of leadership in service to others. She has continued her commitment to educational excellence by cultivating partnerships that allow students to produce new knowledge and engage diverse populations. Through collaboration and engagement, she fosters an internal environment that reflects shared governance among faculty, staff, and students, and an external environment that is safe and welcoming for the College community and its city neighbors.

During her tenure, she has successfully completed the largest capital campaign in the College's history, raising over $50 million. In the fall of 2024, a new 76,000-square-foot Health Sciences Center was opened for students and faculty to create an interdisciplinary space for cutting-edge teaching and learning. She followed a similar process to create the innovative Harold C. Smith Learning Commons, bringing faculty excellence, technology, and library services into a dynamic hub for research and collaboration. Her commitment to inclusivity and accessibility was demonstrated through the partnership with the Cal Ripken, Sr. Foundation to create an intercollegiate adaptive baseball field to benefit athletes of all abilities and contained within our championship-quality intercollegiate baseball field.

Known for her volunteer leadership, President Cooper serves as the vice chair of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Board of Governors and chair of the board of directors for Educare Springfield. She is a past chair of the board of directors of the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Massachusetts and the New England Women's and Men's Athletic Conference (NEWMAC) and remains on its board. In addition, she has served on the boards of the Council of Independent Colleges, the Community Foundation of Western Massachusetts, the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame, and the Cal Ripken, Sr. Foundation.

President Cooper's academic journey is marked by a commitment to lifelong learning. She holds a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Delaware, a Master of Education from the University of Georgia, a Master of Business Administration from the University of Rochester, a Doctor of Philosophy in Education Administration from Michigan State University, and a Doctor of Management from Case Western Reserve University.

President Cooper lives on the Springfield College campus with her husband, Dave, and their chocolate lab, Jack. Their son, Calvin, serves as a Captain in the U.S. Air Force Services, embodying the Coopers' shared values of service and dedication to community and country.

Martin Dobrow

Springfield College Professor of Communications Commencement Speaker

With today's commencement, Martin Dobrow completes his 25th year as a professor at Springfield College. Dobrow came to Alden Street in 1999 with the launch of the Communications/Sports Journalism major. Along with his colleagues, he has worked to make the major a force on campus ever since.

Dobrow has earned recognition as both a writer and a teacher. In his sports writing days, he won several national awards, including first-place honors from the Associated Press Sports Editors and the United States Basketball Writers Association. On six occasions, Dobrow's stories were honored in the "Best American Sports Writing" anthology.

Dobrow had already written an acclaimed book about college basketball when he joined the faculty. He has since written a book about minor league baseball that earned a starred review from Publishers Weekly, which called it "beautifully written, meticulously orchestrated."

Over the years, Dobrow's writing focus has shifted to social justice. He has written in-depth stories on this subject in The Washington Post and The Atlantic, among other publications. This year, he is completing a book that has been a passion project for the last decade about an under-told story of American civil rights in the nation's oldest city.

In 2014-15, Dobrow earned the College's highest teaching honor as the Distinguished Springfield Professor of Humanics. His Humanics projects included a "Tom Waddell Day" (that he continues annually with the Sports and Social Justice Symposium); a focus on the Team IMPACT program that pairs children with life-threatening illnesses and college sports teams; and a sharing of his research about the remarkable circumstances surrounding the Springfield College commencement speech given in 1964 by his namesake and hero, Martin Luther King Jr.

Dobrow has also won the New England Journalism Educator of the Year Award.

Dobrow has co-chaperoned spring break civil rights trips to Washington, D.C., to St. Augustine, Fla., Atlanta, Ga., and three Alabama cities: Birmingham, Selma, and Montgomery. He has enjoyed collaborating with students on journalistic projects such as the "Liberty, Justice, and Ball" podcast with 2021 graduate Kris Rhim on the intersection of basketball and social justice, and "The Class of 2023: A Journey Through Extraordinary Times" documentary with current students Braedan Shea and Alberto Martinez.

Dobrow is married to Professor of English and Assistant Dean of Arts and Sciences Missy-Marie Montgomery, who retires today with the Class of 2024, after a quarter-century of fantastic work. They have three grown children: Jeremiah, Sarah, and Joshua.

A Song for Springfield

*Now raise a song for Springfield,
Let hearts and voices blend
To celebrate her praises,
Whose fame shall have no end;
While fellowship makes holy,
While eager hope elates,
And visioned youth come thronging
Her spacious gates.*

*Earthwide may happy childhood
Lift high its wond'ring eyes,
Strong youth bring back the vision
Of earthly paradise;
To follow truth to wisdom,
Nor faint thro' falt'ring fears,
Be this thy task, O Springfield,
Thro' all the years.*
