

CONCEPT MAPPING

Below is an example of a concept map used to illustrate the main topic of "Climate Change."

This concept map identifies, in a visual format:

- Causes of climate change, including human activities and natural environmental changes
- Evidence of climate change, including melting glaciers, increase in extreme weather, and warming oceans
- Solutions to climate change, including further research and changes in human behavior (such as reducing fossil fuels and exploring renewable energy)

Adapted from The Learning Center, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Springfield College Academic Success Center

